

King Tan

Special Counsel, Coleman Greig

King Tan is a Special Counsel in Coleman Greig's Taxation Team with specialist expertise in Taxation Advice and Tax Disputes.

King works with a broad range of clients from multinational and listed companies, private corporations, high net wealth groups and professional advisers. He has extensive experience in Federal taxes (such as income tax and capital gains tax) and State taxes (such as duty and land tax).

King has assisted clients in business restructuring, acquisitions and disposals of assets, inbound and outbound investments, tax treatment of income, gains and expenditure as well as trust taxation and succession planning. He also assists clients in managing tax disputes and investigations, including notices, risk reviews, tax audits, tax objections and litigation.

King's previous experience working at a Big 4 chartered accounting firm and as a senior tax lawyer at an international law firm brings a range of skills and experience to his clients at Coleman Greig.

King is an active member of the tax community. He regularly presents on tax issues, including to accounting discussion groups and for the Tax Institute. He has also served on committees for the Tax Institute.
