

Peter Connor

Founder and CEO of AlternativelyLegal

Peter Connor is the Founder and CEO of AlternativelyLegal which he formed to help corporate lawyers transform, not just improve, their work and their capabilities. Peter was one of the first two people to apply the t-shaped professional to lawyers. He has consulted to a range of brand name global legal departments and delivered or devised training and professional development programs for thousands of lawyers all over the world. His unique T-Shaped frameworks and programs leverage Peter's 30 years' experience with Baker McKenzie and in general counsel roles with Sun Microsystems, and Citrix in various international locations. His focus is on human transformation - changing the work that lawyers do and their capabilities to do new work. Peter is a regular speaker and author on innovation and transformation in the corporate legal industry. His first book - The T-Shaped Lawyer: A New Vision for You and Your Work - is available now on Kindle. It focuses on what a T-Shaped Lawyer is and why should you become one. His second book will be published soon explaining how to become a T-Shaped Lawyer.
