Principal Lawyer, Thornton + King Lawyers

Sarah Newman is a Principal Lawyer with Thornton + King Lawyers. With over 25 years' experience in residential and commercial conveyancing, Sarah has extensive experience acting for both purchasers and vendors, including company title and retirement village purchases and sales, and off-the-plan purchases. She also has extensive experience in retail, commercial and industrial leasing, acting for both tenants and landlords, including volume landlord leasing for large corporates. Sarah's client base is varied, from large corporate clients, to sporting athletes, to high net-worth individuals, some of whom reside interstate or overseas. Her dedication to her clients is second to none, with many of her clients' children eventually seeking her advice as they get older. With a strong network of referring agents in both the residential and commercial space, Sarah deeply values all of her working and client relationships. A big believer in keeping things simple and using plain English, Sarah's clients often say that she is not like other lawyers and is a breath of fresh air. Sarah is currently the President of the North Metropolitan Law Society, which holds monthly CPD dinner meetings and other networking functions.
