

Sue Field

Adjunct Professor, School of Law, University of New England; Adjunct Associate Professor, Centre for Law and Justice, Charles Sturt University

Sue Field is an Adjunct Associate Professor at Charles Sturt University, an Adjunct Professor at University of New England and a Director of the Australian Centre for Elder Law Pty Ltd. In conjunction with Professor Carolyn Sappideen and Karen Williams, Sue is currently working on editing the 2nd edition of the text Elder Law: A Guide to working with Older Australians. Sue has taught Elder Law for over 20 years, researched and published widely in the area and presented at many international and national events.

Previously a member of the Law Society of NSW Rural Issues and Elder Law and Succession committees, Sue is now a member of the Society's Specialist Accreditation Advisory Committee for Elder Law. Sue is currently enrolled full time in a PhD(i) at the University of New England, where she is developing an innovative model for the teaching of Elder Law.

THE LAW SOCIETY
OF NEW SOUTH WALES