

Trudie Cameron

Principal Lawyer, Practice Leader – NSW & ACT, Armstrong Legal

Trudie Cameron supervises Armstrong Legal's NSW and ACT Criminal Law teams in addition to her own caseload. She is an Accredited Specialist in Criminal Law, practising exclusively in criminal and traffic law. She defends clients charged with both state and Commonwealth offences and appears on their behalf in Local and District Courts. She has appeared as an instructing solicitor in the Supreme Court of New South Wales, the ACT Supreme Court, the New South Wales Court of Criminal Appeal and the High Court.

Trudie also has a civil practice, and acts for clients in relation to select proceedings against the State of NSW arising from allegations of misconduct by police, corrective services or other like bodies, instructing counsel in relation to the same.

Trudie's experience working for senior criminal law barristers prior to joining Armstrong Legal as well as her own years of practice instructing counsel have given her a breadth of experience when it comes to instructing barristers.
