

Mehzabin Farazi

Solicitor, Professional Support Unit, Law Society of NSW

Mehzabin (Mez) Farazi is a solicitor in the Professional Support Unit at the Law Society of NSW, providing solicitors with practical guidance on regulatory compliance. She has been in the legal profession for more than 10 years, starting in a general practice and then eventually focusing on family law, gaining experience in both the private and community legal sectors.

Mez has completed a Masters of Law by Research, focusing on family law clients. Her education, skills and practical experience help her tailor her presentations to the intricacies of the daily life of solicitors in the legal profession.
