Anna Cox

Cost Consultant and Lawyer
Pattison Hardman

Anna was first admitted to practice in 1987 and has a Masters in Business Law from the University of Sydney. She has extensive experience in many areas of litigation. Anna is currently a cost consultant with Pattison Hardman.

Since 2002, Anna has worked as a costs consultant and lawyer in a range of litigious and non-litigious matters, both through her own firm and as a consultant to other firms. She has prepared many bills of costs in NSW and federal jurisdictions, as well as some other Australian jurisdictions. She has also prepared objections and other submissions in many matters. From time to time she has appeared on taxations in the federal courts as well as acting for clients in costs litigation.

Anna has presented at many seminars and workshops on issues relating to legal costs, including for Lawcover and the NSW Law Society.
