

Vaughan Roles

Councillor, The Law Society of NSW, Solicitor, Legal Aid

Vaughan has been a solicitor for more than 25 years. He joined Legal Aid NSW in 2007 after working in the private sector doing criminal and family law and prosecuting in domestic violence cases. Vaughan is regarded as a skilful advocate, proficient in the law, persuasive before the bench, and passionate about serving his clients - many of whom have significant intellectual disabilities or major mental health conditions.

Vaughan was the recipient of a Highly Commended nomination for the 2021 Michelle Crowther PSM Excellence in Government Legal Service Award.

Vaughan is a current Councillor with the Law Society of NSW and is a member of the Law Society's Diversity and Inclusion Committee.

Away from work, Vaughan is a season ticket holder for the South Sydney Rabbitohs, the Greater Western Sydney Giants and the Sydney Thunder. He has played Blind Cricket for Australia and still represents NSW in the sport.
