

About our presenter

Penny Musgrave has been practising criminal Law for 30 years; first as a prosecutor with the Commonwealth Director of Public Prosecutions and more recently in private practise. Between 2008 and 2015 she was the Director of Criminal Law Review with the Department of Justice and during that time was involved in a number of significant policy reforms including the review of LEPPRA. Penny is a current member of the Criminal Law Committee of the Law Society.